DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicants' amendments and remarks, filed on July 09, 2007, have been made of record and entered. Claim 17 has been canceled. Claims 14, 37, 51, 66, & 112 have been amended.

Claims 1-16 & 18-119 are currently pending in this application.

Status of Withdrawn Claim(s)

2. Claims 78-11 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention(s), there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on June 27, 2006.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102(a)

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

4. Claims 1-7, 12-16, 18-20, 22-30, 32-33, 36-44, & 50-70 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Ryu et al., "hereinafter Ryu '588", (US Pat. 6,576,588 B2).

Ryu '588 discloses a catalyst for selective hydrogenation of acetylenes which comprising a copper component and a member selected from the group consisting of at least one Group VIII metal component, a Ag component, a Au component and mixtures thereon on an alumina support, etc. (see col. 17, claim 1). The Group VIII metal component is Pd (see col. 18, claim

6). The catalyst further comprising a Zn component (see col. 18, claim 7). The claimed Group VIII metal and second metal concentrations appear met by the teachings of the reference (see col. 8, lines 12-35 and Examples in the reference).

Recitation on “wherein the catalyst is capable of selectively hydrogenating acetylene with a conversion Sc of at least about 95% and a selectivity to ethylene relative to ethane Sc of at least about 25 when the catalyst is employed in a steady-state liquid phase hydrogenation process” in the instant claim 1 and other intended use limitations set forth in the dependent claims are noted. It is considered the catalyst disclosed by Ryu would inherently perform or capable of performing the same because both the disclosed catalyst and the claimed catalyst contain the same metal components and having the same composition.

5. Claims 8-11, 21, 31, 34-35, 45-49, & 71-77 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ryu et al., “hereinafter Ryu ‘588”, (US Pat. 6,576,588 B2), as applied to claims 1-7, 12-16, 18-20, 22-30, 32-33, 36-44, & 50-70 above, and further in view of Brown et al., “hereinafter Brown ‘805”, (PG. Pub. No. US 2001/0001805 A1).

Ryu ‘588 discloses a catalyst as described above, except for the claimed Group Group VIIB metals (or Mn).

However, it would have been prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have incorporated by adding these metal components into the catalyst of Ryu in order to achieve an improved catalyst having improved in the performance and activities because they are known as useful catalyst materials as evidenced by Brown ‘805 (see Brown ‘805 at page 9, claims 7 & 19).

6. Claims 112-119 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ryu et al., "hereinafter Ryu '588", (US Pat. 6,576,588 B2).

Ryu '588 discloses a catalyst as described above.

Product-by-process in the claims are noted. While the catalyst of the reference is not made by the same process, the catalyst disclosed is the same as being claimed. It has been held that the patentability of the product and its method of production are separately determined. Thus, even though the process limitations in the claims are not disregarded, they have no bearing on the patentability of the claims product per se. See In re Thorpe, 227 USPQ 964 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Brown, 173 USPQ 688, 688 (CCPA 1977); In re Fessman, 180 USPQ 324, 326 (CCPA 1977). See also MPEP 2113.

Response to Applicants' Arguments

7. Applicants' response filed on July 09, 2007 has been fully considered, but not deemed persuasive in view of the new ground of rejection(s) and/or objection(s) above and the following reasons.

The transitional phrase "consisting essentially of" in the independent claims are noted. It is considered Ryu '588 anticipates the instant claims because he teaches a catalyst, which does not contain a halogen component or metal components other than those being required in the instant claims.

Conclusion

9. Claims 1-16 & 18-119 are pending. Claims 1-16, 18-77, & 112-119 are rejected. Claims 78-111 remain withdrawn due to non-elected (distinct) invention(s). No claims are allowed.
